

HOWL OF THE CRAZED
EYE FISH SEA MONSTER
BATHING IN OCEANS OF BLOOD

sinewy
extremities reach—
fleshless skeleton walks—

black and white fog
1930's film monster
lurks with fangs drawn

feverishly scratching,
frantically pawing
shape behind the door—

portal opens
cinema screen
drowns the audience in blood—

past mistakes
ugly mirror image
reaches through glass

moon overtakes sun
silver bullet bursts
permanent paradigm—

innards outwards
weeping red corpse
feasts in silence—

madness glows
From toothy streams—
a monstrous siren—

howl of the crazed
eye fish sea monster
bathing in oceans of blood.
